MANY DIE IN WAKE OF HUGE HURRICANE

Weight Control Class Meets On Monday

The weight control class met Monday night at the Health Center with its regular members and three new ones. Miss Marjorie Murphy, nutrition consultant, stressed the importance of eating regularly, that omitting a meal particularly breakfast, is a strain on the body and a major cause of fatigue.

She demonstrated the portions of beef, peas, potatoes and salad that one could eat on a reducing diet. The class was surprised to see the quantity of each food that could be eaten and yet would be recommended for a reducer.

Each member of the class was given a graph showing his weight and his expected loss pattern if he adheres to a low calorie regime. Reducing diets are based on this principle; taking in fewer calories than needed to force the body to use its stored fat.

The class agreed that October 25 at 7:30 P.M. would be their next meeting date.

Week's Balance Sheet In The Hot And Cold Wars

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

The Good

1. The French National Assembly gave Premier Pierre Mendes-France an overwhelming vote of confidence - 350 to 113 - on his action in signing the London agreement to rearm West Germany and make it a sovereign nation. The final details of the agreement, his confidence vote was so big that the hope for final French ratification of the London pact was regarded as greatly increased.

2. The United States seemed to have cleared up the dangerous situation that exists off the Communist-held China mainland where the Nationalists and Reds have been skirmishing. The State Department, Assistant Secretary Walter S. Robertson, appeared to have won an agreement from the Chinese Communists that they will not provoke the United States in a major clash with the Communists.

3. There was other good news for the free world on several diplomatic fronts. In the United Nations, the Western Allies, on the initiative of Canada, moved to get a special five-nation committee working in secret on a world disarmament treaty. Prime Minister Nehru of India is steadily shifting his foreign policy toward cooperation with Communism with China and away from cooperation with the Western democracies. Nehru is going to Peiping this weekend to pay a "friendly" visit to Chinese Communist Premier-Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai. It was announced Thursday in New Delhi, the Indian capital, that India and Red China have signed a trade treaty. Under the treaty India will ship some strategic materials to the Reds.

3. The United States was involved in a new dispute with President Syngman Rhee of South Korea, whose country it saved and is now supporting militarily and economically. The new dispute concerns the rate of exchange the United States forces in Korea must pay to convert their dollars into Korean currency. Rhee wants them to pay one dollar for 100 Korean won. The Americans hold that a rate of up to 600 won for a dollar would be fair, but are willing to settle for a 254-to-1 rate. Rhee refuses.

RUSSIA CHALLENGED ON NUCLEAR WEAPONS ISSUE

BRITAIN'S SELWYN LLOYD, addressing the UN's 60-nation political committee in disarmament debate in New York, challenges Russia to state clearly whether the Soviet Union has abandoned its long-standing insistence on immediate and unconditional prohibition of nuclear weapons. Beside him sits Russia's Delegate Andrei Vishinsky, making notes. Lloyd pointed out that a commitment by Russia to agree to disarmament controls before prohibition of nuclear weapons would make it possible to start a long way toward success. At right, France's Delegate Jules Moch stresses that any atomic control plan must "dove-tail" all steps for reducing, prohibiting and controlling atomic weapons through inspection and verification.

Hazel Moves Into Canada Leaving Death, Destruction

TORONTO, Ont. (AP) — Hazel the killer hurricane stabbed into the heart of Canada today, blazing a new trail of destruction and boosting the death toll over the 70 mark.

Its gusts buffeted North and South Carolina, Virginia, the District of Columbia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and New York.

Geographical and scientific descriptions gave no hint of the suffering the hurricane extracted. In Baltimore, an 11-year-old boy was killed by a falling tree. A 44-year-old Hagerstown, Md. woman was swept away by flood waters when her automobile became stalled. A caretaker at a beach six miles south of Annapolis drowned when his boat capsized.

Along the coast, Red Cross disaster crews, Civil Defense agencies and state and local authorities aided the injured and helped to clear up the debris.

Armed troops moved into the Carolinas' coastal regions to prevent looting and Marines from Camp Lejeune, N. C., were at Wilmington and at beaches near Wilmington, N.C.

About 1,000 homes along the North Carolina beach were reported destroyed or heavily damaged. The South Carolina town of Windy Hill was reported "washed away."

Some of the hurricane's victims were killed by falling trees. Others were electrocuted by fallen wires while others drowned as the fierce storm sped northward.

Toronto mobilized for possibly the worst disaster of its history. More than seven inches of rain fell on the Toronto area in 24 hours, turning the Humber and Don rivers into angry torrents that swept away houses and automobiles like toys.

"There are plenty missing, we can't tell how many," a police spokesman in the Western suburb of Mississauga said today. "We may never recover them."

Thousands of families were fleeing their homes in this area as streets were turned into swift-flowing canals in Toronto, Hamilton, Brampton, Markham and Aurora. Dikes broke in the Holland Marsh area and tons of water cascaded into homes being evacuated. Residents of Grand Valley, River, took refuge in the second floors of their homes awaiting rescue.

In one of the most dramatic of many early-morning rescues, boatloads of police rescued eight Etobicoke fishermen who had been trapped in their overturned fire truck in the flood-choked Humber River.

Ontario Damage High

Authorities said it seemed certain Ontario destruction would exceed that caused by a tornado which did more than $1-million dollars damage two years ago. Hazel headed this morning for Hudson Bay, where weathermen estimated the storm would go into death throes at about noon.

Early today, however, the tropical tempest was reported moving "very rapidly" without losing any of the punch that devastated southern Ontario.

Hazel, with her destructive sisters Carol and Edna, already has made 1954 one of the worst hurricane years on record in the United States.

Described as the "most erratic hurricane in history" by weather experts, the storm first threatened ship lanes in the Caribbean Sea 11 days ago. It suddenly reversed its field and slugged the eastern tip of Haiti Tuesday, destroying whole towns and villages.

Then the howler lunged northward, plowed across the Atlantic Myrtle Beach, S.C., at about 9:30 a.m. Friday.

50-Mile Winds

By the time Hazel was bowling across eight states it had picked up a forward velocity of 50 miles an hour. Its circular winds were recorded at 100 miles an hour when it sped past New York City.

Its gusts buffeted North and South Carolina, Virginia, the District of Columbia, Maryland and Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey and New York.

Atomic Submarine To Join Fleet In 1960

By JOHN W. FINNEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Defense officials said today it will probably be "about 1960" before the Navy's first atomic-powered surface ship with an incredible speed and range joins the fleet.

The first vessel, which will be the forerunner of a whole fleet of atomic fighting ships, carries submarines, destroyers and guided missile cruisers.

The real significance, defense officials said, of Friday's announcement of two projects to develop an atomic ship and power plant is that atomic power for large naval vessels now appears "feasible."

Enthusiasts within the Navy have claimed for years that atomic power for surface ships as well as submarines is inevitable, but Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has not shared the enthusiasm. As part of a general economy cut last year, Wilson ordered shelve the year-old Navy project to develop an atomic carrier on grounds such a ship appeared to have no special merit over a conventional one.

The project was revived Friday with announcement by the Defense Department and the Atomic Energy Commission that Westinghouse Electric Corp. has been assigned research and development work on an atomic reactor "suitable for large ship propulsion." Some $1,250,000 has been set aside for the project in the current fiscal year.

In addition, two shipbuilding companies, Newport News, Va. Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. and Bethlehem Steel Co. at Quincy, Mass., have been told to draw up "design studies" of "large nuclear-powered ships" in which to use the reactors.

Despite the year-long shelving of the project, an official closely connected with atomic developments said the delay has not resulted in a great setback in the development of atomic-powered ships. The Navy has long been at work on atomic submarines, the first of which, the Nautilus, was commissioned last month.

Executive Board Of Training School PTA Has Meeting

The Executive Board of the Murray Training School Parents Teachers Association met Wednesday, October 13, at the school to make plans for the coming year.

Mr. Wayne Wilson, president, and Mr. Steinbrook, director of Murray Training School and various committee chairmen attending.

Plans were made for membership drive to begin October 18 and continue through November 18. Means of raising funds for more improvements for the school grounds were also discussed.

The next regular PTA meeting will be a potluck supper Thursday, October 21 at 6:30 p.m. in the cafeteria of Murray Training School.

AA Fire Drives Reds From Formosa

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Heavy Nationalist Chinese anti-aircraft fire drove off two Communist reconnaissance flights over Tachen Island the Nationalist Information Bureau said today.

The two jets swooped low over the Nationalist-held island about 200 miles north of Formosa Friday, the bureau said. However, concentrated anti-aircraft fire forced the jets to swing out to sea, the Nationalists said.

The Nationalists also reported that Communist artillery fire raked the islands of Kingshan and Tumen near Tachen again Friday. Nationalist field guns returned the fire.

New Practice Is Announced By ACP

Seeding of winter cover crops on drought damaged land has been approved as an additional practice to the 1954 Agricultural Conservation Program according to James E. Rash, Jr., Chairman of the Kentucky State ASC Committee.

This practice has been approved of all counties in the State. Farmers may receive cost-sharing assistance for fall-seeding grain or ryegrass on any land. Mr. Rash, but the removal of a grain or seed crop is not permitted by restrictions in the practice authorization. The cover obtained by the seeding made in the fall of 1954 may be turned and followed by any crop in 1955.

County committees are now summarizing reports received to date of ACP practices performed during the spring and summer months. Mr. Rash stated that any remaining program funds will be used to the fullest extent necessary in encouraging seeding of protective winter cover. Farmers interested in a cover crop practice should contact the county ASC office and make a request for the approval of the practice before the practice is carried out.

The credit rate for carrying out this practice is $3.50 per acre.

Dancing Chorus Is Selected For Campus Lights

Selection of a dancing chorus of twelve girls and four boys began work on Murray State College's annual musical production, "Campus Lights," set for February 10, 11, 12.

The chorus was picked from among 21 applicants in tryouts last week. Choreographer Arvid Boyd, a senior from Murray, assisted in judging the tryouts by a committee from the two music fraternities which sponsor "Campus Lights," Phi Mu Alpha and Sigma Alpha Iota.

The dancing chorus is one of several all-student groups which perform in the traditional production given each February. Others include a 40-voice-chorus and a 25-piece orchestra.

Director of "Campus Lights" of 1953 is Bill Robins, senior music major from Anna, Illinois.

Adventurer To Return To Home

PAGO PAGO, Samoa (AP) — William Willis, the 61-year-old New York adventurer who sailed 6,000 miles on a tiny bals raft, said today he would leave for home "as soon as possible."

Willis arrived here Friday aboard his 34-foot raft, "The Sev. Humbolt." Current from South America in 115 days.

The journey was the longest solo voyage ever made by man. At its end, Willis received a tumultuous welcome from Samoa residents.

It was well after midnight when he arrived at this mid-Pacific island port, but Willis stowed away a steak dinner before going to bed.

After an early breakfast this morning, the sun-tanned New Yorker returned briefly to the raft with Gov. Richard Barrett Rowe.

The governor said Willis enjoyed his meals, but was far from starved despite his long diet of fish and corn meal.

This afternoon, Willis presented his raft to the Samoan people as a gesture of appreciation for their courtesy, hospitality and friendliness.

In return, Willis was given the honorary Samoan title of "Tautai Ole Vassa Laolao," which means Captain of the High Seas.

The new building has a parlor, small chapel with seating capacity of 100, administrative offices, nursery, and kindergarten. Three classrooms and utility rooms complete the fifteen rooms on the first floor.

The third floor has thirteen Sunday School rooms. The ground floor has Sunday School rooms, kitchen, and social hall.

The building was constructed at a cost of $200,000 and will greatly alleviate the crowded conditions that have existed at the church.

Rev. Paul T. Lyles, the board and the congregation has extended a cordial invitation to all of the people of Murray and Calloway County to attend the open house on Sunday from 3:00 to 5:00 p.m.

New Libel Laws Are Announced

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — Colombia put a revised anti-libel decree-law on the books today which toned down a previously proposed law that was far more stringent.

The original law was to go into effect Oct. 1. But objections from newspaper publishers led President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla to agreeing to suspend it for two weeks pending its amendment by a committee of jurists and publishers.

The new edict sets up a "judge of social guarantees" to handle libel and calumny cases. The original law placed such jurisdiction with the Interior Ministry. Publishers suggested libel cases should be handled by the regular courts. Under the new law, publication of a correction or withdrawal of a statement is accepted as sufficient to stop libel action, a provision not in the original measure.

Demos Claim Victory In House Seats

In the following dispatch, the veteran chief of the U.P.'s House staff sizes up the congressional election outlook with the balloting.

By REX CHANEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic political experts said today that, by "conservative" estimates, they expect to pick up 20 to 40 House seats in next month's election and to take firm control of the chamber in January.

Republicans said only that they expect the outcome of the voting to be "close." They figure they have a good chance of retaining House control by a few votes—possibly seven or eight—but they also think the Democrats may gain control by a narrow margin.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans feel that Lyndon B. Johnson, Secretary Charles E. Wilson's recent remark about bird dogs and kennel-feds could have an effect on the outcome. The Democrats feel that what Wilson said will react to their advantage: the Republicans say it may get out a bigger Democratic vote in some areas, and thus work to the GOP's disadvantage.

It takes 218 seats to control the 435-member House. In the present 83rd Congress, which expires when the new Congress takes over in January, the Republicans hold 218 seats and the Democrats 212. There are four vacancies and one seat is held by an independent, Rep. Frazier Reams of Ohio. One of the Democrats' biggest worries at the moment is overconfidence. They fear some of their workers may let down on the theory that the election is in the bag for them.

The Republicans are stressing the importance of organization from the precinct level up. Their theory is that the party with the best organization usually wins in an off-year election.

Rep. Sam Rayburn of Texas, who will become speaker if the Democrats win in the House, has gone on record with a prediction that his party will control the House by 20 to 40 votes.

Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr., who will retain his present post only if the Republicans win the House, has said he expects the GOP to retain control by a relatively small margin. Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa.), chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee, has expressed similar views.

Heavy Rains Aid Water Supplies

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Heavy rains in the past month have replenished supplies of stock water, which areas and have been very beneficial to fall seeding operations on Kentucky farms.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported today many farmers waited for the rains rather than take a chance of poor stands of fall seedings.

THE LURID MONTESI CASE

HERE are characters in the lurid Wilma Montesi case in Rome charges of girl parties, dope smuggling, murder and bribery have jarred the government clear to the premier. (International)

Piero Piccioni, 32, disc jockey son of a statesman, arrested on charge of girl parties, dope smuggling, murder and bribery. His father resigned as Italy's foreign minister as result of son's arrest.

Ugo Montagna, 46, self-styled marquis, also arrested in the Montesi case. His alleged girl friend said he master-minded the "party girl's" death, and headed a dope smuggling ring.

Silvano Moto, editor of Wilma Montesi, "party girl" victim whose small magazine. He partly disclosed body was found on Ostia beach near Rome. Her death first broke the case. He was called a drowning. Moto's magazine story put on trial for story, said she was a victim of an over-dose of but judgment was postponed at a sex-dope-drinking orgy in Ego Montagna's hunting lodge.

Anna Maria Caglio, 23, the
"Black Swan" killed by Ugo

Piero Piccioni was assassin for her as a witness to the case.

Farm Ponds, Kentucky Lake Feeding Place Of Ducks

Down quick, there they come.
There's mallards, black's, pintails and three teal's. It's a whole raft of ducks! These words echo again and again in the ears of duck hunters opening day and nearly every day after that as the colder weather up north brings fresh flights of waterfowl into the warmer waters of Calloway County and Kentucky Lake.

Some of the finest duck shooting
in the nation is to be found right here in our own back yard.
The larger farm ponds hold as much an enticement to resting and feeding ducks as does the open waters of Kentucky Lake. Some hunters had more luck at their own back field ponds than at the Lake last year. Whereas the geese stick close to areas like Patterson and Upper Blood River, the ducks are as likely to be found in a field yard nook as in a mile long stretch on the lake. That makes it all the better for pass shooting
from the thousands of blinds
built annually along the shores
of Kentucky Lake in Calloway County.

Many Tennessee waterfowl
hunted to provide for duck hunters paradise without one red cent going into the coffers of the state Fish and Wildlife Resources Department, even though many dollars are being spent to attract the ducks and geese into this area. It's still better hunting. The reciprocal agreement between Kentucky and Tennessee makes it possible for Tennessee hunters to use the Kentucky Lake area, and vice versa. Up to Egner's Ferry Bridge with their Tennessee license. Kentuckians may go into Tennessee to shoot waterfowl at they want to leave the best for the worst.

A federal duck stamp is necessary to hunt ducks as well as the regular statewide hunting license.
Those under 16 must have a Junior statewide hunting license, but need not have the federal duck stamp.

The woodcock is being protected this year and it is necessary therefore that novice duck hunters bone up on waterfowl identi-

THE SPORTS PATROL

By STEVEN SNIDER
United Press Staff Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — College football, never a sure game, seems to be rougher than usual this year.

At least two "incidents" already have occurred and two more are being played hard for the return of the two platoon system because the current rule is "too hard on the boys."

Earl Black of Army and Charley Caldwell of Princeton, who both were named "Coach of the Year" awards, are leading the crusade to restore two platoon football.

"I don't see any point in making the men play to the point of exhaustion," said Black. That's what it takes, he feels, for a small squad to play a game to the hilt under current restricted substitution.

Chances are the early incidents are only a hangover from the 1953 rule change because most of the college full are playing the game at the same tremendous speed today they did in the era of specialists.

Washington Game Revealed
Washington's Huskies recently lost three quarterbacks in a game against Oregon State and deliberate roughness charges were hurled.
Last week, Milt Campbell of Indiana reportedly said that Michigan State tackled kept twisting his injured knee every time they hit him.

These are isolated cases, but if things like that keep multiplying
over the football map the two

Dogs Will Be Useful In Second Section Of This Year's Split Squirrel Season

Many squirrel hunters claim that using a squirrel treeing dog doubles their sport. With the second portion of this year's split season beginning about the time that most of the trees will have shed their leaves (November 20) and lasting until Old Man Winter is full upon us (December 31) it should provide ample fun for the man with a dog and a gun.

Contrary to some "experts" opinion, there are plenty of squirrels in Kentucky, with a large portion of them making their residence here in Calloway County.
The writer while hunting sections around Lynn Grove, Kinsley and New Concord found more than enough bushy tails to satisfy a squirrel trigger finger and evidence that lots more were hiding from view. Close observation in most any woods, be it a small patch beside a barn or thirty acres surrounded by corn fields and two ponds on each side, will reveal that squirrels inhabit them.

It is an easy matter to find where squirrels hang out, and even to see some while out hunting, but it's a horse of a different color
when it comes to getting in close enough to put the gun sights on the critter and slam home No. 6
sixes into him to bring him down.

Don't blame a lack of success in stalking for their "not being any squirrels in the woods nowadays."

Three species of squirrel use Calloway County as home headquarters. The red fox squirrel, which is not so plentiful, the big
"cat" squirrel, a variety of the fox squirrel and fairly numerous in the lowland swamp country, and the common gray squirrel, which comprises the majority of our county squirrel population. The gray, being smaller than the others is more difficult to spot in the trees, therefore it is wisdom to take a good dog along on the late fall trips.

Most squirrel hunters who use
such stars as Betty Hutton and Judy Holliday haven't yet been
able to "tick" the audience popularity of its CBS competition in
many cities. "Town Of The Town," CBS' "Shower Of Stars" super-
colossal color show broke even
with its competition.

Skelton took a well chewed
chunk out of his month between rehearsals of his own CBS-TV
program to charge his bosses and
the other networks with "unimproving
the gun" on color shows.

"They're using color plots instead of black and white plots and
what does it mean to the viewers
with the old sets?" he said. "Not
enough people have color sets yet."
"Color is a novelty. You see, the show in color and it looks fine
but in black and white it's different."

The next thing, he grinned,
"will be 4th dimension-TV. That'll
be color TV with a plot."
Red himself will star in his first
color program in December with
the hopes, a black and white plot.
"And I think next year color
will hit - boom. Most of the color
shows will be shot out of doors.
People stay indoors to watch TV.
They're resting and I suppose
they'll live longer, but they want
to see the outdoors."

Red has one of his best years
ahead with his television rating up.
And, to make life easier his radio
show is arranged to that Skelton,
the star, doesn't have to be there.
Down the years the comic has
recorded his "warm-ups" for studio audience before his TV and radio programs go on the air, and
personal appearances he's made at
benefits and the London Palladium.
These routines - fresh material to
radio audiences - have been arranged into a radio show.

Know Your Baits?

By Ben Rovin

Rovin's Kentucky Lake Tackle Box

Here is what you need for all types of fishing in Kentucky Lake at all times of the year. These baits are equally effective, using a bait casting rod or spinning equipment. With these baits crappie, stripes and black bass will be easily taken. For they are water. These are the ones that I use consistently.

Surface Lures

Use these baits when the surface is calm or only a slight ripple is noticeable.
Hula Popper, black or frog

Lucky 13, dark green or yellow

Skelton Hits Color TV

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Red Skelton
aimed a shot at the lavish color television programs of the fall season today, they're "plotless" and unfair to the black and white net-owners.

The best color programs
were heralded by an hourly avalanche of publicity releases, but after they were beamed over 15
airwaves their audience ratings sent many a TV producer to his ulcer pills.

NBC's color "spectaculars" with
such stars as Betty Hutton and Judy Holliday haven't yet been
able to "tick" the audience popularity of its CBS competition in
many cities. "Town Of The Town,"
CBS' "Shower Of Stars" super-
colossal color show broke even
with its competition.

Skelton took a well chewed
chunk out of his month between rehearsals of his own CBS-TV
program to charge his bosses and
the other networks with "unimproving
the gun" on color shows.

"They're using color plots instead of black and white plots and
what does it mean to the viewers
with the old sets?" he said. "Not
enough people have color sets yet."
"Color is a novelty. You see, the
show in color and it looks fine
but in black and white it's different."

The next thing, he grinned,
"will be 4th dimension-TV. That'll
be color TV with a plot."
Red himself will star in his first
color program in December with
the hopes, a black and white plot.
"And I think next year color
will hit - boom. Most of the color
shows will be shot out of doors.
People stay indoors to watch TV.
They're resting and I suppose
they'll live longer, but they want
to see the outdoors."

Red has one of his best years
ahead with his television rating up.
And, to make life easier his radio
show is arranged to that Skelton,
the star, doesn't have to be there.
Down the years the comic has
recorded his "warm-ups" for studio audience before his TV and
radio programs go on the air, and
personal appearances he's made at
benefits and the London Palladium.
These routines - fresh material to
radio audiences - have been arranged into a radio show.

THE WAY OF WISDOM

Proverbs is a book which contains many pointed sayings about the way of wisdom for the daily walks of life. Throughout this remarkable book God, through Solomon constantly stressed the tremendous importance of gaining wisdom. He made it clear that one may be an encyclopedia of information and yet lack the wisdom to apply that knowledge to life. Knowledge comes by learning, but wisdom, which is far greater, comes largely by revelation.

PROVERBS 3:1-6

Solomon admonished his son to remember the counsel which he had given him. Forgetfulness of his instruction would have prevented him from being obedient as a dutiful son. These verses contain God's admonitions to all His children.

Memory is always a primary factor in a life of obedience to God. Unless we remember His commands and admonitions it is impossible for us to obey Him. Faithful obedience to God is conducive to longevity and peace. We are urged to avail ourselves of mercy and truth. Because they have their source in God, we should surrender our wills to Him in order that they may be wrought into our lives. Upon our reception of them from God, we are taught to bring them about our necks as a valuable ornament and to write them upon our hearts as something that is very precious to us. Obedience to God is the only pathway to happy living. The happy life is the one which is lived within the circle of the will of God. Regardless of how good precepts may be in themselves, they are of little value unless they are engraved deeply upon the heart from which emanates the issues of life. Honesty is something which delights the heart of God. It is also a means of making us a blessing to others. How excellent it is when the Christian has an unblemished reputation for integrity in his dealings with his fellowmen!

What does "mean to trust in the Lord with all thine heart?" Trust conveys the idea that one is conscious of his feebleness and therefore turns to the Lord for support. He wants us to have the same loving confidence in Him that a child reposes in his parents. We are told here how to trust "with all thine heart." Half-heartedness has no place in the purpose of God for His people. We can count on the faithfulness of God under all circumstances. He will never fail us. Our Lord has said, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." Nothing is more ticklish and frail than our own understanding and that is why we are admonished to distrust it. Our blessed Lord is to be acknowledged in all the details of life. He is worthy of being acknowledged with the supreme affection of our hearts, the complete homage of our intellects and the unwavering loyalty of our lives. He will direct our paths on the condition that we acknowledge Him. Our attitude toward and response to this condition specified here will mark the difference between yieldedness to God's will and rebellion against it, happiness and unhappiness, victory and defeat. There is no satisfaction in life like that which comes from living in accordance with His holy will. He will never disappoint us if we will trust in Him, lean not unto our own understanding and acknowledge Him in all our ways.

We should trust our wonderful Lord with the heart, serve Him with our talents, praise Him with our lips and honor Him with our gifts. He will use us in a mighty way if we will only dedicate ourselves without reservation to Him for His blessed service. If we expect the Lord to lead us, we must let Him determine our thoughts, form our opinions, mold our character and control our lives.

PROVERBS 4:10-15, 18-19

Instruction of youth should be both positive and negative. In this connection, however, parents should realize that admonition is unavailing unless their examples are in conformity thereto. They must never indulge in those things which forbid their children to do. Unfortunately many children will not heed the admonitions of their parents which are based on the Word of God and are the outgrowth of experience.

Merely hearing God's Word is not enough. We must feed upon it and apply it to our lives. The voice of God appeals for attention to His directions and a cheerful response to His teachings. Obedience to His appeal guarantees happiness and progress in the Christian life. Listening to His voice and obeying His instructions will build Christian character to the extent that it will be beautiful, strong and able to withstand the assaults of Satan.

It goes without saying that there are two paths through life, the right and the wrong ones. Nobody ever regretted following the right one, but innumerable multitudes have been sorry that they pursued the wrong course. Going in the right way is always for our good. Wisdom demands that one avoid the way of the wicked as he would a plague. The way of evil men is to be abhorred and avoided as much as possible. Distance from sin is the best way to escape its defilement. It is best to frequent the places where the wicked congregate. Why be so foolish as to ask God to give you grace to keep from sinning and then deliberately walk into the presence of evil? It is far better to ask Him for grace to stay away from the places of temptation. To linger in the presence of temptation is to run the danger of falling into sin. There are those who indulge in wickedness whose great delight is to lead others into their evil paths. It is a mark of wisdom to shun that crowd and to avoid their way. So determined are they to cause the downfall of others that they frequently spend sleepless hours in scheming and plotting for the fulfillment of their evil purpose which is to bring others down to their own level.

It is a well-known fact that Satan does not have any happy old people. Therefore, wisdom teaches us to shun the evil way which goes down with increasing darkness. In contrast with the way of the wicked, the path of the righteous is pictured as a shining light increasing in luster as one progresses. The increase of light from dawn to noon is an appropriate illustration of how the children of God should advance toward the goal of likeness to Christ. Daily we should make progress in knowledge of the Lord's will, in holiness of heart and life, and in the righteousness like the morning sun that increases in brightness and brilliance from the dawn to the meridian. This beautiful message of scripture portrays the supreme worth of Christian character.

FLOOR SEALER USED ON KITCHEN PIECES

Heavy duty floor sealer makes a good finish for lap tables or other pieces of furniture such as are used in the kitchen, says Miss Frances Stallard, home management specialist at the University of Kentucky. The finish soaks in the wood, seals the pores, and, at the same time, it has a plastic quality that resists heat and moisture. It dries quickly and does not scratch nor mar easily. For that reason, it is a desirable finish to use on floors that receive extra hard wear.

The surface to be treated should be smooth and free of all dust. The sealer should then be applied liberally with a cloth, small mop or brush. After drying over night, it should be rubbed down with steel wool and another coat applied. As many as three coats of sealer may be given to furniture that will receive extra hard wear.
